NO TIME FOR HATING.

Begone with fued! away with strife; Our buman hearts unmating! Let us be friends again! This life Is all too short for hating! So dull the day, so dim the way,

So rough the road we're faring-Far better weal with faithful friend Then stalk along uncaring! The barren fig, the withered vine,

All types of selfish living ; But souls that give, like thine and mine. Renew their life by giving. While cypress waves o'er early graves On all the ways we're going, Far better plant where food is scant

Than tread on fruit that's growing. Away with scorn? Since die we must And rest on one low pillow

There are no rivals in the dust-No foes beneath the willow. So dry the bowers, so few the flowers, Our earthly way disclose, Far better stoop wehre daises droop Than tramp o'er broken roses!

Of what are all the joys we hold Compared to joys above us? And what are rank and power and gold Compared to hearts that love us? So fleet our years, so full of tears, So closely death is waiting; God gives us space for loving space,

But leaves no time for hating. KISSES ON INTEREST.

When Cyrus W. Field returned from his tour around the world he was perfectly amazed at the extent to which stock speculations had run; and the thousand and one "wild cat" schemes which were largely patronized by the too credulous public, even when there was not the remotest probability that they would ever come to a successful completion. He stepped into Delmonico's to dinc, and was pained to see the crowds which huddled around the stock indicator, unable even to eat a meal in peace, so disquieted were they under the operations of the fever of speculation. Mr. Field says he bought certain stock for an investment at 1.96 just before he sailed. On his return, finding it quoted at the fancy price of 1.64, he sold. He could see no reason why such an advance should have been made, and fearing a crash in the market he disposed of his stock as soon
